

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT 1973-1974

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE, ANNVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA

INTRODUCTION

In giving an annual report to the Trustees and to all of the constituencies and friends of Lebanon Valley College I am very aware of the necessity for being as clear and as objective as possible. I trust the following pages report the 1973-1974 year in just that manner. It is impossible, however, to review 1973-1974 without some measure of emotion and good feeling associated with the tremendous cooperation which made the year an unusual success. When records are broken and when confidence runs high, there is cause for reading health and strength into the future, and I am sure this report does that. May it also be fair and honest in showing weaknesses which must be overcome and in clarifying goals and purposes which are not always fully realized.

The small, church related, liberal arts college contributes first and foremost to the students who hope to grow from the collegiate experience in an unusual environment. The church benefits. The community is enriched. Our society prospers. All of us associated with the college have times of great joy and satisfaction, but all of these extra benefits are only by-products of our contribution to the one thousand students who are actively engaged in the process we call a liberal arts education. We contribute to their striving for a liberal education and some specialization, for breadth and depth. We assist their seeking individuality and community. They cannot have one without the other. They can quickly destroy one with the other. Keep that paradox in mind as you read this report.

THE STUDENTS

Several years ago it was decided to allow the full time enrollment of Lebanon Valley College to grow gradually to a few over one thousand students. This gradual growth has now reached the projected number, and 1973-1974, as did 1972-1973, began with more than one thousand full time students. Approximately 84% of the full time students lived on campus. The accompanying graphs give you additional information about the students.

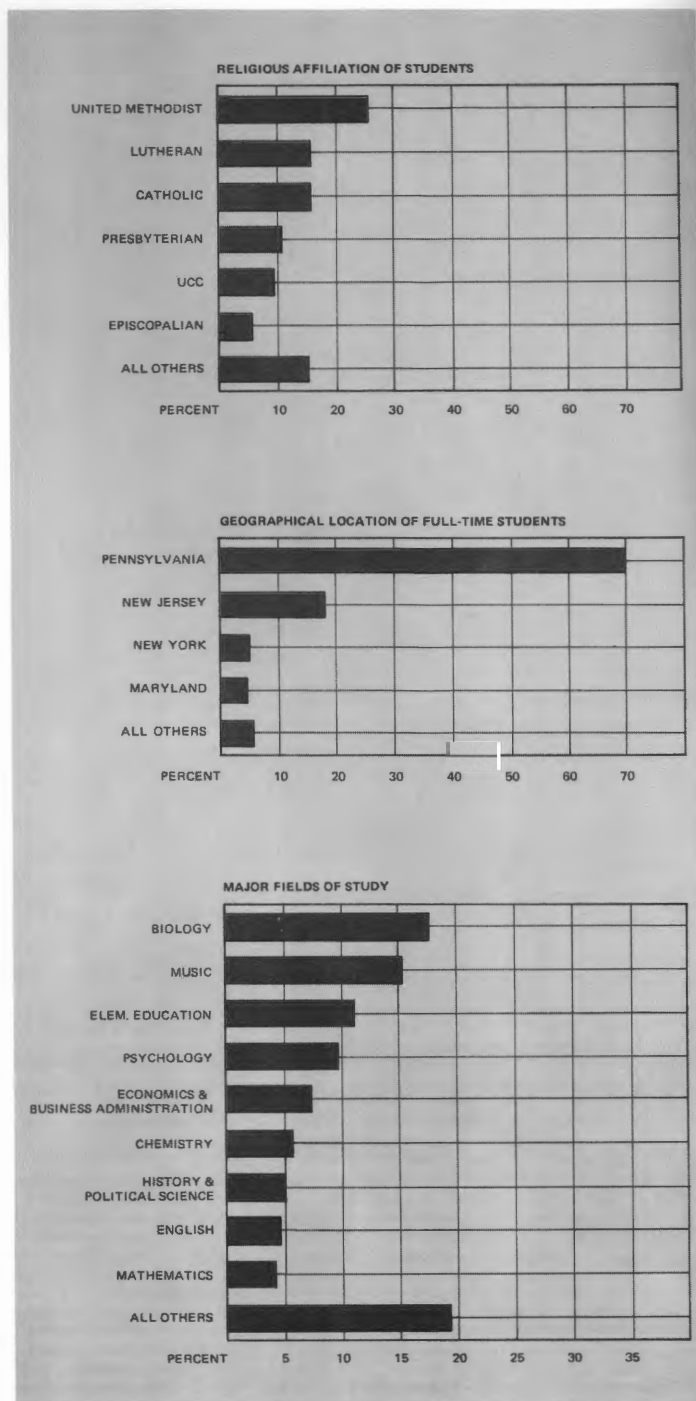

More than 25% of the students were on the Dean's List. Although this high number is attributed in some measure to changes in the system of grading, the high number is also an indication of serious students who were taking advantage of the educational opportunities afforded them. Eleven students received Departmental Honors at Commencement in May. Three graduates received College Honors.

Even a small campus provides many services which are outside but supportive of the academic program. Students used these many services in record numbers. Some examples demonstrate the use. There were more than 2,800 visits to the offices of the Dean of Students. There were 192 appointments with the consulting psychologist. There were 3,085 visits to the infirmary.

During the year the leaders of student government continued to evaluate our system of student government, and they continued to work for improvements. One of the outstanding examples of cooperation at LVC was the lengthy study and development of a new policy for dormitory life and inter-visitation. This new policy was developed jointly by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees and the officers of student government. The policy was recommended to and adopted by the Board of Trustees. Student government remained a matter necessitating continuous evaluation. Improvements came to the program only because many persons cared enough about student life to work diligently for improvement and for cooperation.

Although there were improvements in the program of student government, the unmet need for everyone's concern and cooperation remained. Enforcement, justice, fairness, and dignity were often confused or ignored in favor of special privilege for a few.

The students continued their expressed interest in a variety of extra-curricular activities. Participation in athletics, drama, fraternities, sororities, clubs, and religious activities followed a record pace. Responses to requests from the women for more sports for girls were positive. An erasure of the last differences in opportunities between the sexes on campus was begun.

THE FACULTY

During the 1973-1974 academic year Professor Warren Thompson was on sabbatical leave for the year, and Dr. Anna Faber was on sabbatical leave for the second semester. Including these two members the faculty numbered seventy-four full-time and twenty-two part-time for the year. This group allowed for the student-faculty ratio to remain at thirteen to one.

New members of the full-time faculty were Dr. Madelyn J. Albrecht, Assistant Professor of Education; William J. Blazewicz, Assistant Professor of Education; Ronald G. Burrichter, Assistant Professor of Music; Dr. William M. Flesichman, Associate Professor of Mathematics; Dr. Owen A. Moe, Jr., Assistant Professor of Chemistry; Dr. Thomas V. Rush, Assistant Professor of Sociology; Dr. Ann L. Henninger Trax, Assistant Professor of Biology; Dr. Stephen E. Williams, Assistant Professor of Biology; and Rosemary Yuhas, Instructor in Physical Education. During the year Dr. David I. Lasky joined the faculty as Associate Professor of Psychology after the resignation of Dr. James H. Mather.

Also concluding services during or at the close of the academic year were Mr. Blazewicz, Dr. Horgan, Dr. Kerr, Dr. Lee, and Mr. Wood. Dr. S. Elizabeth Piel and Dr. C. F. Joseph Tom concluded services as department chairman for foreign languages and economics and business administration respectively. Both Dr. Piel and Dr. Tom desired more time for teaching.

Fifty per cent of the regular, full-time faculty members were on tenure. Twenty-two per cent were alumni of Lebanon Valley College. The percentage who held the earned doctorate remained high and by department was as follows: biology, 100%; chemistry, 83%; economics and business administration, 75%; education, 60%; English, 57%; foreign language, 75%; history and political science, 75%; mathematics, 75%; music, 15%; philosophy, 0%; physics, 67%; psychology, 100%; religion, 100%; sociology, 100%; art, 0%; physical education, 0%.

For the full-time faculty the years of service to LVC ranged from one to twenty-eight with the average between eight and nine years. The age of the faculty members ranged from twenty-five to sixty-eight years with the average between forty-two and forty-three.

In order to provide opportunities for independent study for our students and in order to give fullest advantage of our student-faculty ratio to the students, many of our faculty schedules were heavy throughout the year. The emphasis on quality teaching continued to be our hallmark. I praise the faculty for giving the campus an unusual and outstanding professional service.

CURRICULUM & PROGRAM

During the 1973-1974 academic year, study of the proposal entitled "Expectations and the Bachelor's Degree" continued. The year's study culminated in a two week-long period of intense and concentrated effort immediately following Commencement in May. Mornings were devoted to departmental curriculum considerations, each department meeting by itself. Afternoons were devoted to the investigation of potential common experiences which might be appropriate for LVC students. In the afternoons the method of study alternated between meetings of the faculty as a whole and small group sessions of nine or ten faculty members. This concentrated period for the faculty's total study of curricular matters was the first of its kind in recent years. It was an extremely valuable experience for everyone who participated. Results of departmental decisions as to how the curriculum can be made more meaningful in terms of learning goals and evaluation are now in process of coordination by the Dean's office. A continuing committee has been at work over the summer trying to coordinate the suggestions for and to formulate a recommendation on common experiences to place before the faculty in the fall of 1974.

One of the most significant changes in the program during 1973-1974 occurred in the English Department. Seminar groups were formed for all freshman English sections. Each group was limited to sixteen students under the guidance of a professor with the emphasis on writing. In addition to the professor tutoring the group, other faculty members of the department shared in the evaluation of each student's work. The program enabled students to progress at different rates and allowed for completion of the program prior to the usual two semester sequence. Modifications of the program will develop, but the initial experience indicated that the basic design is very helpful in the development of college level writing abilities.

One of the experimental programs to be tried during the year was developed in the Department of Economics and Business Administration. This intern program allowed for a student's association with a local industry for the second semester. During this period the student became acquainted with many phases of industrial management and contributed his skills to the operation of the firm. All of this experience was under the guidance of Professor William Warner who evaluated the necessary reports from the student. Although this internship has not yet become a regular part of the department's program, the initial trial was highly praised, and future plans are under development.

New ideas, new experiments, and new programs were always considered within the context of our desire to balance effectively specialization and liberal education. It was never easy to have one complement the other. But then it was never easy to be an effective church-related, liberal arts college.

THE LIBRARY

Increased allocations for operation of the library continued in 1973-1974. Budget provisions (excluding salaries) increased another thirty percent, similar to the increase for the previous year.

The reclassification of the collections from the Dewey Decimal System to the Library of Congress system reached the half way mark. The goal to complete reclassification by 1976 seemed to be attainable.

In accordance with previous plans the east end of the lower floor became the computer center. During October, 1973, a DEC PDP11/40 computer was installed, and the new center became a busy place almost immediately. The computer was available for academic use during the regular hours for which the library was open. The computer center was also in operation during the summer months under the supervision of Dr. Joerg Mayer who will serve as the Director of the Computer Center for 1974-1975 in addition to his responsibilities as Professor of Mathematics and Chairman of the Mathematics Department.

Mr. William Hough, Head Librarian, effected continued improvements in the book collection, periodical collection, and in the micro-film collection. Expenditure of the Kellogg Foundation grant of $5,000 for additional materials on the environment was completed during the year.

THE ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

To keep pace with the development program, the building program, student recruitment, curriculum studies, new activities and others, 1973-1974 proved to be an extremely busy year for the administrative staff. The accomplishments and progress gave reason for genuine expressions of thanks to this dedicated and loyal staff.

Miss Mimi Meyer departed from the staff during the year and Miss Linda Gunderson replaced her in the Office of Public Relations. At the close of the year Dr. Mary Ann Fritz, Associate Dean of Students, announced her resignation after two years in her position.

The full-time professional administrative staff included many persons who gave service to Lebanon Valley College in positions different from their present ones. Including the previous positions, the range of continuous years of service to LVC by the staff was one year to twenty-seven years with the average at nine years. The ages of these administrators ranged from twenty-two to sixty-two with the average between forty and forty-one.

Although changes are occasionally made in the organization of and in the assignments for the administrative staff, we continued our efforts to keep the staff as small as possible. Comparisons with similar institutions indicated the relatively small number who are members of the staff.

ADMISSIONS

The 1973-1974 year began with more than 340 new students among the more than 1,000 full-time students on campus. Enrollment quotas were not met in many colleges and universities, so it was extremely gratifying to begin the year with more than the goal previously established. Approximately 290 of our new students were beginning freshmen, and the remaining fifty were students transferring from other institutions.

Without adding additional persons to his office Gregory G. Stanson, Director of Admissions, and Mrs. Ann Monteith, Director of Public Relations, developed new methods for communicating Lebanon Valley College to prospective students during the year. All reports at the time of this writing indicated that 1974-1975 will begin with another full enrollment of highly qualified students.

In accordance with all other programs of the College, each candidate for admission was given individual attention and screening. Although this individualized program taxes the time and effort of the staff, it gives an honest introduction to the College, and it has proven to be successful.

PHYSICAL IMPROVEMENTS

The major improvement in process during the year was the construction of the new music building. Progress on this project was very good considering some shortages of materials and a strike which slowed construction for more than six weeks. Several areas of the building were ready for use by September 4, 1974, and other areas will be occupied during the fall as they are completed.

For the past two years the music program was conducted in temporary facilities in different areas of the campus. The old men's dormitory was used for studios and practice rooms. The former Lutheran Church and the former Evangelical Congregational Church on opposite corners of North White Oak Street and Church Street were used for classrooms, rehearsal rooms, and offices. A portion of the former E. C. building has already been razed, and the other portion of it will be gradually converted into another facility. The former Lutheran building will be used by the biology department until such time as a new science building is constructed chiefly on the site of the old men's dorm.

In preparation for 1974-1975 the program to improve sidewalks, pathways, and landscaping continued. The athletic fields north of the railroad tracks were developed further for softball, soccer, and other activities. The chief project yet to be accomplished in the athletic and recreational area is the provision of new tennis facilities.

As noted in another part of this report, the new computer center was a major improvement in facilities provided for our students. Having the DEC PDP11/40 on campus since October, 1973, has already proved to be an asset far and above previous arrangements for instructional services.

One small improvement and one very major improvement are still unmet and sorely needed on our campus. The major need is of course the new science center. When we can finally bring our biology, chemistry, mathematics, physics, and psychology departments together in the science center for which we have visions and plans, the academic facilities of LVC will be in excellent condition. The small need is the pedestrian bridge across the railroad. The addition of this facility will surely add to the safety and convenience of student traffic.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Because of the care and concern of our many supporters and because of the good stewardship of the faculty, administration, and staff of the College, 1973-1974 was again a fiscal year without deficit. The joint efforts of many made the financial page a positive one. The 1973-1974 fees for students were $2,175 for tuition; $65 for student fees; $475 for room; and $700 for board. Unfortunately the 1974-1975 fees had to be announced at higher levels. The 1974-1975 charges are $2,375 for tuition; $65 for student fees; $485 for room; and $735 for board.

ALUMNI ACTIVITIES

The gasoline shortage curtailed many of the winter and early spring activities of the Alumni Association and the regional clubs. The shortage eased in time, however, for the largest participation ever in the Alumni Day which this past year was held on May 4, 1974.

During the Alumni Day program, the Distinguished Alumnus Award was presented to Dr. Woodrow S. Dellinger, '33, and Alumni Citations were awarded to Dr. Robert F. Early '49, Walter K. Ebersole '43, Dr. Alan H. Heim '53, Malcolm Lazin '65, Dr. Thomas S. May '34, Dr. Roger B. Saylor '38, Dr. Harvey B. Snyder '41, Ronald A. Steele '56.

During the year Thomas Reinhart, President of the LVC Alumni Association, continued his outstanding leadership of the Association and its Board of Governors. E. Peter Strickler and Walter Levinsky were reelected to the LVC Board of Trustees, while Alfred Blessing, F. Allen Rutherford, Jr., and Dr. Elizabeth Weisburger continued in their present terms on the Board. Mr. Rutherford was elected to the position as First Vice President of the Board. Dr. Weisburger was re-elected as Second Vice President, and Mr. Strickler was re-elected as Treasurer.

It is impossible for the President of the College to express adequately and fully the thanks which are owed to the alumni. Long time dreams for LVC have been fulfilled because of the unselfish service rendered to the institution by so many loyal former students.

FUND FOR FULFILLMENT

Succeeding pages of this report give great detail about the Lebanon Valley College Fund for Fulfillment, but some general review of the program at this point will help put the 1973-1974 year into its proper association with the Fund for Fulfillment.

The Fund began in July, 1971. It was designed and approved by the Board of Trustees to fulfill the major capital needs of the College within the decade of the seventies. The first phase of the program was to pay for the Allan W. Mund College Center, to increase the endowment fund, and to construct a new music building hopefully within three years. The second phase was to build a new science building, to bridge the railroad, to reduce indebtedness, and to provide a new campus entrance, all as soon after the first phase as possible.*

The first phase goal was set at $4,500,000 with September 7, 1974, eventually established as the concluding date of the first phase. Many successes and records were achieved during this phase, but the challenge by the Kresge Foundation during the final year of it was an encouragement never to be forgotten. The Kresge Foundation pledged $250,000 to the Fund in the spring of 1973 providing we raised the additional $1,300,000 still needed for the contracted price for construction of the music building. April 15, 1974, was the deadline for meeting the challenge, and it became a day of thanksgiving and celebration in the history of our College. The challenge was exceeded by more than $200,000, and the first phase total reached almost $4,100,000. To reach the goal of $4,500,000 by September 7, 1974, seemed possible. The extra pledges by everyone and the largest individual pledge in the history of the College combined to establish new bench marks for the future.

Please read and enjoy the many details about the first phase of our Fund for Fulfillment. With eagerness and confidence the Board of Trustees and I look forward to the second phase.

THE PAST AND THE FUTURE

The Board of Trustees of Lebanon Valley College completed its first year under the leadership of Lawton W. Shroyer. It was an extremely busy year, and Mr. Shroyer effectively gained the cooperation and response of the Board as the record clearly shows.

The year closed with seven persons concluding active service on the Board of Trustees. Mr. Samuel Boyer, Dr. Elizabeth Geffen, Dr. Pierce Getz, Dr. Malcolm Meyer, Mr. Kenneth Bickel, Mr. Alan Shortell, and Miss Judith Haines. We give them our genuine thanks for their effective and unselfish service.

As the result of spring elections we welcomed to the Board of Trustees Mrs. Agnes B. O'Donnell, Dr. Karl L. Lockwood, Chester Q. Mosteller, Jefferson C. Barnhart, William D. Boswell, Robert A. Boyer, DeWitt M. Essick, Dale H. Everhart, Bishop James M. Ault, Bishop John B. Warman, and Ralph C. Woolley. Mr. Barnhart, Mr. Essick, and Dr. Lockwood return to the Board after serving at different times in the past.

We also welcomed as an Honorary Trustee Henry R. Arnold after whom our athletic field is named. Mr. Arnold passed to his eternal reward soon after the beginning of our new year. Although his tenure on the Board was extremely short, his generous assistance to the College will always be with us.

We welcomed as an Emeritus Trustee Paul C. Ehrhart whose service and devotion to the College have been rarely equaled. Mr. Ehrhart served as an active Trustee from 1957 till 1972.

To serve on the governing board of any college is a taxing and demanding responsibility. Lebanon Valley College provides no exception. For 108 years the many persons who served on our Board faced countless critical questions, chose from difficult alternatives, moved forward with faith and courage, and expended personal time, energy, and money in behalf of Lebanon Valley. Anyone who knows and loves the College is grateful for those who served. Anyone who comprehends the value of the small, church-related, liberal arts college is thankful for all who are now shouldering the responsibility of governing LVC. It is an unusual time. It is a difficult time. It is also a time which requires faith and courage.

For all who served and for all who serve I express deep and humble appreciation. Thanks to our Church, our Alumni, our Faculty and Administration, our Students, our Staff, our many friends for joining our Trustees in making 1973-1974 a very good year.

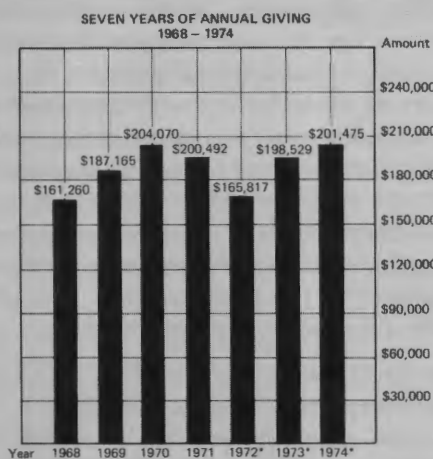

COMMITMENT THROUGH GIVING

1973-1974 was a very good year. Annual Giving was on the rise, the Fund for Fulfillment goal was in sight, and the Kresge Challenge was a tremendous success. The latter, a campaign that realized over $1,500,000 in just twelve months and thus earned $250,000 for the College, capped an unprecedented three years of giving at Lebanon Valley. In fact, during the last three years, Capital and Annual Giving to all funds totaled $5,059,263, an all time record. As we attempt to add to this achievement by securing the remaining $400,000 to complete the first phase of the Fund for Fulfillment, we are convinced that on the basis of this experience, the alumni and friends of Lebanon Valley will support with equal vigor a future project to fund a new science building.

However, in the interim, it is vitally important to insure the successful continuation of the Annual Giving program. Without these funds for current expenses, the maintenance, staffing and use of new buildings becomes less meaningful. Over $200,000 was contributed to the Annual Giving program last year with approximately 21% of the alumni participating. Now with the Kresge Challenge behind us, a goal of $250,000 and 40% alumni participation is realistic and also is necessary if we are to combat inflation and thus insure the continuation of quality education at Lebanon Valley College.

The many names listed on the following pages underscore the broad base of support for the college. As we scan all the names, it seems that just one might become obscure in such a vast listing. However, be assured that each and every person who contributed to this institution has the undying gratitude of the board of trustees, the faculty and administration and the students. 1973-1974 was a very good year and you, the alumni and friends of Lebanon Valley College, helped make it possible.

The Development Office has strived to be as accurate as possible in recognizing our many friends for their financial support, but sometimes names can be inadvertently omitted or spelled incorrectly. We trust you will understand and inform us if we have made an error in this regard.

CHURCH PARTICIPATION

The College is especially pleased to recognize support from the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference and the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the United Methodist Church. A record $56,363 was received from these two church bodies. A significant factor in this increase was the additional funds received from churches in the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference that participated in the now re-activated Dollar-per-Member program. For this special effort above and beyond the regular apportionment of these churches, we are deeply appreciative. As pointed out first by the Bishop and the District Superintendents, and later by conference action, it is hoped that all the churches will follow this example of providing extra support for their college. We recognize those churches that participated in the Dollar-per-Member program by listing their names below.

Lebanon Valley College is sincerely grateful to all the congregations and supporting leadership in both conferences. This active interest in Christian higher education underscores our belief that the college as a church related institution will continue to grow and prosper.

THE PRESIDENT'S CLUB AND THE CENTURY CLUB

Lebanon Valley College is extremely proud to recognize the alumni and friends who joined the President's Club and Century Club during 1973-1974. Again, an all time record was established as 995 individuals, businesses, and foundations joined the Century Club, and 296 became members of the President's Club. For a small institution with a relatively small constituency, 1291 members is a standard that ranks high among both small and large institutions across the nation.

Because we want to recognize all the contributors to the Fund for Fulfillment for the last three years, space limitations make it necessary that a separate listing of this year's President's Club and Century Club be omitted for this report. However, membership is indicated by a P or C before the names in the following Fund for Fulfillment listing. Members who are not included in that listing are recognized by a P or C in the Annual Giving pages.

All individuals and businesses are encouraged to consider membership in one of the two clubs. A gift of at least $100 will qualify the donor for the Century Club and a gift of at least $500 places the contributor in the President's Club. In addition to the recognition on the following pages, the members are invited to be the guests of the college at the annual Century Club Dinner on October 4, 1974.

ANNUAL GIVING

The 1973-1974 Annual Giving Program began this past year with more than the usual degree of uncertainty regarding its final outcome. Under the pressure of heavy competition from the Fund for Fulfillment's Kresge Challenge, Annual Giving appeals had to be directed to a constituency that, in the two preceding fiscal years, had committed itself to over $2,700,000 to the capital endeavor. As expected, the results were not outstanding, but viewed in perspective, Annual Giving was a success.

Though alumni support decreased slightly from the previous year, significant increases were realized in the areas of Foundations, Corporate, and Friends support. Total contributions were greater than in any of the three preceding years, and surpassed the amount contributed in the year prior to the start of the Fund for Fulfillment. We all agree that the decrease in alumni support can be attributed to the Kresge Challenge, but now that this campaign has been met, it is anticipated that the Annual Giving by alumni and friends will increase substantially in terms of amount contributed and percentage of participation.

Lebanon Valley College is sincerely grateful for the support given to the 1973-1974 Annual Giving Program by the individuals and firms listed on the following pages. A special thanks is extended to the many donors who made real financial sacrifices and to the numerous volunteers who gave so freely of their time and energy in order to make 1973-1974 a successful year.

FUND FOR FULFILLMENT

Listed below is the name of every donor who contributed to the Fund for Fulfillment during the past three years. Included also are those who participated in the Kresge Challenge.

Three years ago, some cynics and prophets of gloom predicted that the constituency of Lebanon Valley College could never meet a $4,500,000 goal. Now, with just $400,000 remaining to be secured, it has been proven without a doubt that Lebanon Valley alumni and friends can indeed rise to the occasion. The college center and the new music building are now realities and are significant evidence that many, many people believe very strongly in the future of the college.

As indicated in an earlier alumni magazine article, there are many statistical and tabular means to explain how this overwhelming fund raising success came about. But behind all the figures lie countless stories of the tireless energy and unselfish support of hundreds of dedicated Fund for Fulfillment workers and givers. For all of this everyone at Lebanon Valley College is sincerely thankful.

A few of the facts and figures regarding the fund and the Kresge Challenge are noted on the last page of this report. It is significant to point out that 20% of all the alumni, parents, friends, businesses and foundations that were contacted contributed to this effort. Specifically, 30% of the alumni body made a commitment to the Fund for Fulfillment or to the Kresge Challenge sometime during the past three years. This level of participation, though modest in comparison with other institutions, is particularly rewarding to all the alumni workers who gave so much time and effort to the campaign. It serves also as a goal to be surpassed in current annual giving programs and future capital campaigns.

MATCHING GIFTS

Each year, more and more alumni and friends employed in industry become aware of the opportunities available to them through their employer's Matching Gift Program. Last year for example in Annual Giving, 40 firms matched gifts made by their employees to Lebanon Valley College for a total of over $4,723. The College is most appreciative for the support of these donors and their employers.

What the College finds difficult to explain is the fact that there are still many eligible donors who leave this valuable well spring of corporate support for higher education untapped. Fully endorsed by industry, all the donor has to do to initiate the gift matching process is secure the proper form from his employer, complete his portion of it, and send it along with his gift to Lebanon Valley. The extra funds provided through the Matching Gift Program may well be a significant factor in the College's ability to withstand the increasing financial pressures of this inflationary period.

Additional information regarding the Matching Gift Program for 1974-1975 will be sent to all alumni and friends. However, if additional questions arise, please contact your employer or write the Director of Development.

BEQUESTS AND DEFERRED GIFTS

Why do people make bequests to Lebanon Valley College? Aside from important estate tax implications, most persons making a charitable bequest provision in their will are rewarded throughout their life-time by the satisfaction which they derive from the knowledge of what the gift will accomplish for Lebanon Valley College. Over 100 alumni and friends have confirmed to the College that they have made this decision.

Other people prefer other arrangements and one of the most popular types of deferred giving is the Gift Annuity. The Gift Annuity is an agreement between Lebanon Valley College and a donor whereby the donor contributes a given sum of cash, securities, or other property in return for an agreement on the part of the College to pay the donor, and the surviving beneficiary, if desired, a guaranteed income for life. There is a charitable deduction for part of the gift, and depending upon the age of the annuitants, a portion of the guaranteed income is tax free. Like a trust, the Gift Annuity enables the donor to see his gift at work during his lifetime.

We invite all friends of Lebanon Valley College to examine the advantages of Gift Annuities. The Director of Development will be pleased to offer assistance in conjunction with legal counsel regarding these and other attractive deferred giving plans.

During the 1973-1974 year bequests and deferred gifts were received from the following:

Mrs. Ruth Engle Bender
E. W. Coble Estate
Mary S. Groff Estate
Mr. C. V. Henry, Jr. Estate
J. Lehn Kreider Estate

Mrs. Mary Lutz Mairs
Mr. David M. Rank Charity Fund
Paul M. Rosenberg Estate
Dr. Ernest O. Williams, Sr. Estate
Jesse O. Zeigler Estate

MEMORIAL GIFTS

Gifts can be made to Lebanon Valley College in many ways, but perhaps the most satisfying is the memorial gift. During the last three years, many friends of the College made gifts in honor of a departed loved one or a respected friend. These contributions were recognized in the form of an attractive plaque and became a permanent part of the College.

The Fund for Fulfillment has provided opportunities for memorial gifts heretofore unavailable. Practice rooms, studios, classrooms and equipment can be designated as memorials by interested donors. We are particularly pleased to receive these gifts and accordingly will recognize them in a manner suitable to the donor. Alumni and friends who already made gifts that qualify or who are intending to make such contributions are asked to write to the Director of Development for assistance.

During the 1973-1974 year, gifts were received honoring the following:
